Advisory and consultancy services

To achieve the expected effect of autogenous vaccines, the DYNTEC company will ensure for you a complex advisory and consultancy services in breeding:

- Isolation and identification of causative agents of a disease
- Determination of the sensitivity to antibiotics
- Serological determination of the level of antibodies (PI3, BRSV, BVD, IBR)
- Virological examination (Rotaviruses, Coronaviruses)
- Long-term control of efficacy of vaccination and medication programs in disease control

Replace treatment for vaccination! The vaccine is suitable especially for breeding, where it is necessary to minimize the burden of organism during immunization. Vaccines are vitally important for welfare of animals, prevention of disease and protection of consumer's health.

To order a production of an autogenous vaccine, please contact the staff of Foreign Trade Department – telephone numbers can be found in the section Contact.
